Module 4

Officiating Systems: 3-Official and 4-Official

Why are there systems?

- Systems are put in place to provide job expectations and standards
- They are fundamental repetitive events that can be perfected to produce consistent outcomes

Some questions to ponder...

1. How do these systems affect the game of hockey?
1. Who is affected by these systems during the course of a game?
2. Why are these systems so important in the jobs we choose to perform as officials?

3-Official System

- Used regularly
- Consists of 1 referee and 2 linesmen
- Working together is key

3-Official System

In groups, you will:

- discuss the criteria for a good/average/great linesman and referee based on the scenarios the instructor will give you
- demonstrate the fundamentals of positioning for linesmen and the referee

Coming together is a

4-Official System

- Not used as regularly
- Consists of 2 referee and 2 linesmen
- The key for success for this system is anticipating the play and quick footwork
- Ideally stay out of the way of the play but maintain good sightlines to make the right call

4-Official System

In groups, you will:

- discuss the criteria for a good/average/great linesman and referee based on the scenarios the instructor will give you
- demonstrate the fundamentals of positioning for linesmen and the referee

A person is sitting on a rocky shore, looking out at the ocean under a cloudy sky. The person is in the foreground, and the ocean is in the background. The sky is overcast with grey clouds. The overall mood is contemplative and serene.
